

(b) Clerk: Ohayou gozaimasu. Hotel Taisei desu.

Greg: Hello. Uh ... Do you speak English?

Clerk: Of course, sir. Good morning. (エ)

Greg: Good morning. My name is Greg White. My wife and I have a reservation for four nights starting tomorrow, but we have a problem. Your website says that check-in time is two o'clock, but our flight arrives at eight a.m. We'd like to check in at about (オ) if possible.

Clerk: We probably won't have rooms before two, but I'll check to see if any rooms might be ready early. One moment, sir ...

I'm sorry, Mr. White, but I can't check you in at eleven. However, I can check you in at half past one, and I can give you a voucher for a free lunch in our restaurant. They have a very nice buffet.

Greg: (カ) We'll eat lunch while we wait.

Clerk: Good. We'll take care of your luggage at the front desk while you have lunch.

I think you'll like our restaurant. The food is excellent, and you won't feel so tired if you have some of our good coffee!

Greg: I'm sure we'll enjoy the meal, but I won't have coffee because I want to sleep in the afternoon.

Clerk: I understand, sir. Have a good flight, and we'll see you tomorrow.

Greg: Thanks for your help.

Clerk: You're welcome, Mr. White.
